

TestDiet®

Fresh from our lab to yours.™

May 21st, 2026

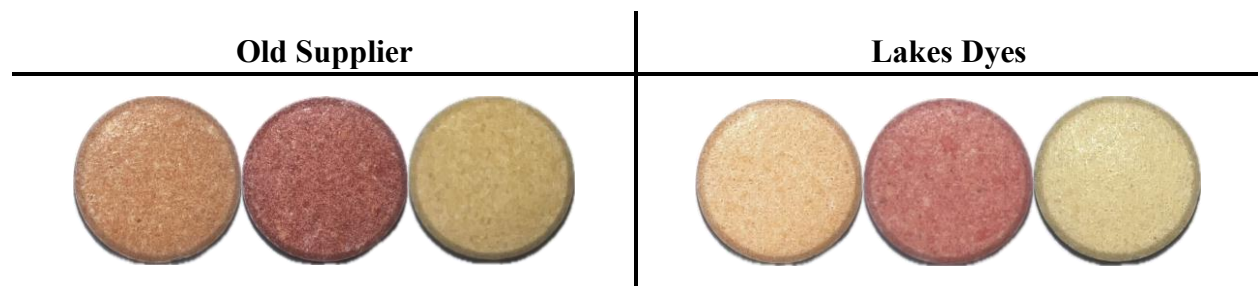

To Whom It May Concern,

We are pleased to announce an update to our TestDiet® LabTab® line of products. As part of our ongoing commitment to product consistency, we have updated our coloring-agent supplier to standardize the use of lake dyes across our TestDiet® products. This update is limited to the coloring agent and does not impact the nutritional composition of these products.

TestDiet® products are colored using FDA-approved lake dyes. Lake dyes are widely used in foods, cosmetics, and pharmaceuticals such as colored candy, coated medicine tablets, and long-wear makeup. Because they are considered certified color additives, lake dyes must meet FDA identity, purity, and labeling requirements before using, ensuring consistent coloring performance and product safety.

We understand such changes can be a challenge to your facility and/or research program but feel these changes are necessary to ensure we continue to provide our customers with the highest quality products possible. While slight differences in appearance may be expected, we do not anticipate these changes to affect palatability of the diet or performance of the products within your study. The changes will be effective starting May 21st, 2026.

A comparison of the previous and updated formulations is provided below for your reference:

Sincerely,
TestDiet® Team